

The AMAZING EVENTS of MY LIFE

BREAKTHROUGHS

During our lives there are events that occur that can only be described as amazing because we view them as turning points, real moments of moving forward or great development or breakthroughs of significance. We carry a sense of intense gratitude for them happening and certainly would not be without them, because often they follow a time of fear, concern and uncertainty. Often they are direction-changing, life – enhancing and special. Take a moment to list the seven most amazing events in your life so far, (blue bordered space) but also write in your situation or thinking that the event followed. (red bordered space)

Knowing that these above events occurred, is it possible that more amazing events could occur, the ones that you really want to happen? If so, write with your full heart's desire, that special event that you want to experience.
