Using tried and true methods, your school culture can be improved when students are encouraged to speak up and talk about team work and interpersonal skills.

- Enhanced through an empowering and supportive coaching* approach, young people are enabled to take on the nervousness that everyone feels when speaking in public.
- New speaking skills and techniques are learned while receiving feedback from their peers and giving honest recognition of others and themselves.

Combined with indispensable leadership principles, STEP FORWARD effectively sparks awareness and builds positive frameworks for future work and living.
